Three young girls have been murdered. Within a few days, the first corpse appears and the main suspect of the murder is imprisoned. Years later, the other two bodies are found and the case is reopened. Then, the old boyfriend of one of them begins a dangerous investigation that takes a totally new course. With a dark setting and a well-worked intrigue, we start from a crude reality that impacts on the peaceful life of an island community. It questions the true motivations that move the human soul by entering into a dark and unknown world that raises the question of how each of us dreams about life and understands their own professional ambition.
