In the future, humanity holds the key to consuming energy responsibly, but they are facing new moral dilemmas. Through four moments separated by space and time over half a century, we get to see the genesis of the invention that could change our destiny. Project Time is the story of Pablo Andrade, the creator of 'Brainstart', and the terrible secrets hidden by his family.

The film is part of the Cinergia project developed in collaboration with Arena Media Agency and promoted by Gas Natural Fenosa. The first part premiered at the San Sebastián Film Festival. The second and third parts have also been released.
